Threat To Academic Freedom

Professors Condemn Nixon's College Stand

By The Associated Press
New outbreaks of campus turmoil have struck in the East and Southwest as some political and academic leaders disagreed on the causes and cures for student unrest.

Black students took over the president's office for five hours at Southern Methodist University in Dallas Friday while two major units of New York's City University were forced to close by violence.

More than 50 policemen cleared the Queens College campus after 40 Negro students marched through three buildings smashing windows and overturning furniture.

Two top Republicans—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and House leader Gerald R. Ford—both called for a clampdown on student disorders in line with "get tough" statements earlier this week by President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Sharp Dissent
Many delegates to the American Association of University Professors meeting in Minneapolis expressed sharp dissent with the Nixon administration view and a resolution was offered condemning it as a "direct threat to academic freedom."

The Amherst College community told the President that student unrest would not be quelled until the political leadership of the nation addresses itself to the major problems of society—the war, the draft and the needs of the poor.

In a letter to Nixon, Amherst President Calvin H. Plimpton said the students and faculty had taken two days off to debate the issues early this week and were convinced that fundamental changes "can take place without physical duress."

Minority
But he said the Massachusetts college community took issue with the view that the turmoil is caused by a small minority of students and that unrest would end without substantial changes.

Agnew, speaking in Honolulu, told a meeting of young executives:

"When administrators and faculties capitulate before

Church Groups Request Lifting Of Tax Exemptions

"These Kids Are Not Angels"

Wants Job Corps Records Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leader of congressional opposition to the planned cutback of Job Corps sites has called on the Nixon administration to release all records of the centers—good and bad—and to fight clean.

"I'm ready to wage a non-partisan, clean battle and I trust the administration will do the same," said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

His comment followed disclosure Friday the administration has confidential files on rapes, homosexuality, narcotics use and extortion at Job Corps sites available as trump cards in the cutback dispute.

Cranston, who introduced a Senate resolution asking President Nixon to postpone closing the 57 centers, said Congress has had difficulty getting records.

Nothing New

But he said disclosure of the documents did not uncover anything new to those familiar with the Job Corps.

"These kids are not angels and no one expects them to be," he said. "We recognize if those kids are turned back into the streets there will be more crime, not less of it."

Administration officials denied that investigators' reports were used to decide which centers to close.

The files pinpoint such troubles as narcotics use at Kilmer Center for men at Edison, N.J.; homosexuality at Poland Spring women's center near Lewiston, Maine; and racial fights at Parks men's center at Pleasanton, Calif.

Stamped "Administratively Confidential," the papers are summaries of case studies prepared by investigators from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Report Leak

A spokesman for the OEO's inspection team said he was dismayed the reports had been leaked. "If anyone has revealed those documents for political purposes I would consider it highly unethical," he said.

One report said homosexuality at the Poland Spring women's center had been so persistent "that the termination of the center is in the best interest of the government and the enrollees."

India President, Husain, Dies, 72

NEW DELHI (AP) — Zakir Husain, an educator who became the first Muslim president of India, died today of a heart attack. He was 72.

The announcement of Husain's death also said Vice President V.V. Giri, 74, a former trade union leader, would succeed Husain in the largely ceremonial role.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was on a tour of famine stricken areas in nearby Rajasthan state and left for New Delhi on hearing the news.

An official announcement from the president's house said: "The president collapsed and passed away at 11:20 a.m. following a severe heart attack. Immediately measures for resuscitation were taken by doctors and continued until 11:55 a.m., which, however failed to revive him."

Radios interrupted their broadcasts and began playing funeral music. The Indian tricolor flag was ordered lowered throughout the country.

Tunnel Tree Falls At Yosemite

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — "This is like having one of your children die..."

It was a eulogy to the ancient sentinel of Yosemite National Park, the Wawona Tunnel Tree, which has fallen. Millions of tourists drove through it.

The words belonged to ranger Lynn Thompson, who said the 2,000-year-old sequoia redwood giant fell from the roots and left a huge hole in the ground.

The 234-foot-tall tree, a sapling in Christ's time and revered for its example as one of nature's oldest living things, apparently fell in early winter but was hidden by snows.

The director of the center, Robert G. Lake, denied there was a serious problem with homosexuality while testifying earlier this week before a house subcommittee. "Our problem has been with rumors," he said, "not with an instance of homosexuality."

Drug Abuse

A report on the Kilmer men's center quoted a physician there as saying "narcotics are rampant."

Governors Ask Local Control Of Antipoverty

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Republican governors have served notice on the Nixon administration they want control of antipoverty programs in their states.

In the closing business sessions of their spring conference Friday, the GOP state executives also demanded that they be consulted in advance about any policy decisions the administration may make with big city mayors in programs to attack urban programs.

Most of the governors will get an opportunity to chat with President Nixon today during the President's brief visit to Churchill Downs in Louisville to watch the running of the Kentucky Derby.

At their semiannual meeting, the governors sidestepped the controversial issues of Nixon's decision to deploy the Safeguard missile defense system and

School Aid Measure Awaits House Action

LANSING (AP) — Action on a bill to appropriate more than $844 million for public schools resumes Monday in the House amid expectation of a token grant for parochial schools and a substantial boost in funds for Detroit.

An increase in the $115 million earmarked by the Senate for Detroit schools is expected to be made by the House Appropriations Committee, whose chairman, William Copeland, D-Detroit, said the bill hopefully would be ready for floor action Monday night.

Majority floor leader George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, said he would seek to raise the state aid qualification to a required 14-16 mill range. The Senate considered that level but voted a 10-12 minimum - maximum. Districts now can qualify with a minimum of eight mills, up to 10 mills.

Whether the parochial aid would be hooked on in committee or on the floor appeared academic compared with increasing signs of legislative acceptance of the principle of public funds for private schools.

One Senate Democrat estimated parochial aid could muster 23 votes among the upper chamber's 38 members.

Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee that revised a Senate draft to $856,000 more than Gov. William Milliken's budget recommendations. He said a parochial allowance could spark a Supreme Court review of the concept.

"I think we need a court review," he said.

Zollar indicated the Senate would look at any House-sponsored parochial amendment "but nothing that would take money away from public education."

Zollar earlier was quoted as saying he would oppose any parochial amendment that came from the House.

Testimony for a 70-30 split of Michigan's $100 million state recreation bond issue and in opposition to giving metropolitan areas the biggest chunk of the cash was heard in Escanaba today.

The hearing was in the State Office Building, opened at 10 a.m., and is the third of four being conducted in the state. The fourth will be in Grand Rapids on May 5.

Purpose of the hearings is to determine public sentiment on the recreation bond money split. At Traverse City yesterday majority of the speakers opposed giving urban areas the lion's share of the fund.

Bingham McClellan, a Michigan State Chamber of Commerce official, urged a 70-30 split.

State Rep. Michael Dively, R-Traverse City, backed the 30-30-40 plan. He said its proposed provisions for local and statewide recreation projects would cover people in all parts

In response to publicity on the report, a spokesman at Kilmer said 60 per cent of the camp's enrollees come from New York City where drug abuse is a serious problem and "it is not surprising that some of them have been exposed to narcotics... Every effort is made to identify the undesirable and get them out."

Acting Director Robert Emmond of the OEO's inspection office refused to show the original studies of the centers when told that summaries of them had been seen. He said the studies were intended to improve the centers.

Cleaned House

"We've fired administrators, cleaned house, put in new staffs and as a result many of these camps have been well run."

Chairman Carl Perkins, D-Ky., whose Education and Labor subcommittee has been studying the planned closures, said he felt use of the reports was "a flimsy excuse and distasteful."

"This is expectable of the kind of youngsters we are trying to rehabilitate," he said. "That's the job of the Job Corps."

Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., a member of the subcommittee, said he felt it was incorrect to say the administration was using any of the files as trump cards in the dispute.

"Only one center, Poland Spring, was closed for reasons other than the criteria used by the Labor Department," he said. "And the issue of homosexuality was not considered in the decision to close Poland Spring."

A resolution authorized by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois illuminated the friction between governors and mayors over the thrust of city programs. It demanded "notification and consultation" with governors when administration officials talk to the mayors.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican whip, has changed his stated position on the Vietnam war and urged President Nixon to unilaterally withdraw 25,000 to 50,000 U.S. troops.

Scott said a beginning of a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam would "prod the North Vietnamese out of the sea of propaganda and onto the high ground of real bargaining sessions."

Such comments were criticized recently by President Nixon as harmful to the U.S. peace negotiations in Paris.

"I urge the withdrawal of a substantial number of American troops from Vietnam," Scott told a university alumni group in Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday night.

"I hope that the White House will announce such a move in the near future," Scott added.

"By a substantial number I don't mean half," Scott said, departing from his text. "I mean 25,000 to 50,000 should be replaced by trained South Vietnamese forces."

Explaining the reason for his new position, Scott said: "A wise man changes his mind often but a fool never."

Scott's speech was the second in two days by a prominent GOP senator calling for a start on withdrawing troops. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., the ranking Republican in seniority, urged Thursday the start of "orderly withdrawal."

The U.S. Mission reported Maj. Gen. Richard F. Shafer, deputy to American commanding Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, met with Thieu at the presidential palace for 1½ hours. Also present was U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth S. Bunker.

Sources described it as a regular consultation meeting to discuss the results of the latest session of the Paris peace conference and map strategy for next week's session.

"There are a lot of propositions going on in Paris," said one source, "like developing positions and the problems and mechanics involved in mutual troop withdrawals, the matter of American prisoners of war and our position on the demilitarized zone."

American military sources said today any cutback in the 541,500 U.S. troops stationed in Vietnam hinges on three conditions.

They are:

—Some breakthrough at the Paris peace talks.

—A greatly reduced infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into the South.

—Improvement of South Vietnam's armed forces.

"Any change in American troop strength would require one or all three of these conditions," said one senior official.

Conservationists generally backed the 70-30 split.

Rep. Joseph Swallow of Alaska endorsed the 70-30 proposal and urged that the Legislature keep faith with the voters. He said if it did not, this could affect future school bond issues.

Richard McClellan, Gov. Milliken's representative at the hearing, was asked if the governor had committed himself to the 70-30 plan during his reelection campaign.

McClellan replied that the governor had reassessed the program after the vote for recommendation of the recreation bill, and didn't feel there had been a commitment on his part.

Would Affect Green Bay's Channel 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the nation's major church organizations have asked Congress to lift the traditional tax exemption for church-owned businesses.

The proposal from the National Council of Churches and the United States Catholic Conference got high praise from Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ar., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which is writing a tax reform bill intended to lift the exemption anyway.

"That's fine that they did that," Mills said. "That's my line of thinking and we intended to have that."

The proposal also appeared to be in line with the Nixon administration proposal that tax exemptions be eliminated for unrelated businesses operated by all nonprofit organizations.

Commercial
The church statement was presented to Mill's committee Friday.

"Such exemption makes available to churches a potential advantage over tax-paying organizations engaged in commercial business activities," the statement said.

But many church-connected businesses—such as The Christian Brothers wines corporation operated in California by the Roman Catholic order of the same name—are tax-paying ventures.

The present tax exemption is for businesses operated directly by churches and church congregations. And there is some question how many of these exist.

WBAY-TV
A knowledgeable Catholic source said only two Catholic-owned ventures would be affected—Loyola University's WWL television and radio station in New Orleans and the Norbertine Fathers' WBAY-TV station in Green Bay, Wis.

A number of Protestant church-owned businesses are likely to be affected said a spokesman for the National Council of Churches.

"We don't know how many," said Bruno Kroger, a council public relations officer. "I would say quite a few—all across the country."

U.S., Viet Meet On Withdrawal

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command's top planner for troop withdrawals met Friday night with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, reviving speculation about American troop withdrawals.

The U.S. Mission reported Maj. Gen. Richard F. Shafer, deputy to American commanding Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, met with Thieu at the presidential palace for 1½ hours. Also present was U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth S. Bunker.

Provides Water System

Nahma Project Gets Financing

There were many smiles in Nahma today.

The village on Big Bay de Noc which for many years was the site of headquarters operations of the Bay de Nocquet Lumber Co. got word late yesterday from Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) that the Economic Development Administration had approved a grant that completes financing of a new public water supply system for the village.

Lakes Regional Commission. The project is sponsored by Nahma Township.

Ruppe said that the project total is $219,000, to be supplied by a $46,000 loan from the Farmers Home Administration, the EDA grant of $173,000 approved yesterday in Washington, and a supplemental grant of $44,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

Ruppe said that with final approval of all elements of the financing he expected that federal funds would be obligated next week so that construction could proceed immediately.

Industrial Project
Wynand Nieuwenkamp, manager of the Alger Delta Cooperative Electric Association, which ran a power line to Nahma several years ago to make power available there for industrial expansion, said that Dave Farrand and Albert Halici of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress had been very helpful to development and processing of the project through federal channels.

The project will serve the community of Nahma and a 20-acre industrial park there. It will consist of construction of a deep well, an electric pumping station, a 150,000 gallon storage tank and a water distribution system.

Use Steam Pump
The project prospectus said that it is expected to allow American Playground Device Co., which owns Nahma and which is transferring more of its playground device manufacture there from Anderson, Ind., to add 20 new employees by 1971 and 15 to 20 by 1973. It is employing 53 persons, the application states.

The village is hampered by industrial growth planning by the inadequacy of its present water supply system, a relic inherited from the days when the Bay de Nocquet Lumber Co. operated a sawmill there. A steam plant pumps the water to service outlets and for fire protection.

Fish Biologists Collecting Muskie Eggs In U.P. Lake

Muskellunge were introduced to Iron Lake in Iron County by the Department of Natural Resources only seven years ago, but the lake already is providing a source of supply for muskie eggs for state fish hatcheries.

Department workers began netting muskies from the lake last week, and at last report had taken 15 and a half quarts of muskie eggs. The quota is 23 quarts.

A portion of the eggs will be hatched at the Thompson Hatchery near Manistique and the remainder in Lower Peninsula hatcheries. Some of the eggs will be cross bred with the milt of northern pike to produce tiger muskies, a hybrid that grows faster than either northern or muskies.

Natural muskie reproduction was reported last year in Iron Lake, which is located about five miles north of Iron River. The lake also contains crappies and bass.

The muskies were five to six inches long when planted in 1962. Those netted for the egg-collection project this spring measured between 36 and 40 inches in length.

DNR fish biologists in the Upper Peninsula also are trap netting and taking spawn from northern pike, walleyes and suckers. The quota of 15 quarts of northern pike eggs already has been reached. At least 38 quarts of walleye eggs have been taken from Langford Lake in Gogebic County this spring. The quota of walleye eggs for the Upper Peninsula is 100 quarts.

OK Change In Liquor Licensing

Bill To Test Youths On Hunting Knowledge

LANSING (AP) — A bill aimed at cutting the number of hunting accidents—by requiring those under 17 to show proof of experience or knowledge of safety precautions before being issued hunting licenses—won preliminary approval Friday in the Senate.

The measure, offered by Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe Park, also would prohibit issuance of hunting licenses to persons under 12.

Also given preliminary approval were measures to:

—Provide for license and regulation of dealers and research facilities using dogs and cats for research purposes.

—Permit transfer of Class C liquor licenses on a statewide basis instead of only in a local jurisdiction.

—Allow cities with mass transportation systems to operate up to six miles outside the city.

—Change the title of county supervisors to county commissioners.

Hunting Safety

"Anything that's going to cut down loss of life or injury in this hunting field is worthy of consideration," Fitzgerald said of his bill. "This," he said, "would increase the efficiency in the field of the so-called teenage hunter."

The bill specifies that, beginning Sept. 1, 1971, a hunting license shall be issued to persons under 17 only after they present a prior license issued by Michigan or any other state, a certificate of competency in hunting safety or a certificate of achievement issued by a hunting safety examiner.

The measure provides that the State Department of Natural Resources shall offer a course of instruction in the safe handling of firearms and designate persons to serve as instructors and award certifications.

Any person between the ages of 12 and 16 who completes the course and receives a certificate of competency would be entitled to a free small game license for one year.

Research

The cat and dog bill would put Michigan in concurrence with provisions of federal law concerning supervision of traffic in research animals, said Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo.

"It protects the owners from theft of dogs and cats," he added, "and provides that the (research) animals are given humane care and treatment." The measure also assures that only healthy animals would be used in research, he said.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, said the mass transportation measure concerned Ann Arbor, Flint, Jackson and Kalamazoo specifically.

It expands the area in which a city's mass transportation system may operate from two to six miles outside the city. "Ann Arbor has private bus companies that are unable to make ends meet," Bursley said. The city is trying to establish a public system and needed the extra business, the expansion would provide.

Officials and technical people of the Mead Corp. as well as local Escanaba Paper Co. representatives were involved in the classes to prepare crews who will be working on No. 1 and No. 2 paper machines. Drives Car Into Mass Of People

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Thirty-three of nearly 1,000 University of Texas students dancing in a street suffered injuries, none apparently serious, as a car rammed through their midst Friday night. Police rescued two Negro students in the car as an angry crowd tried to break into the locked automobile. Officers lodged an aggravated assault with a motor vehicle charge against Robinson H. Parsons Jr., 19, of Houston, identified as the driver. They released his male companion.

Hospital attendants said two broken legs appeared to be the most serious injuries. City officials had refused to issue a permit for the block party earlier. They reported the dance was blocking traffic and ordered that cars be permitted to pass prior to the incident. John Bryant, a reporter for the Austin American, told of seeing the vehicle pass most of the dancers as a number climbed onto its fenders and hood. Suddenly the driver stepped on the gas and several persons fell off the vehicle, Bryant related.

He said, "about 35 of the men and women started chasing the car and screaming, 'get the s.o.b.' ... the band was playing very loudly. I could see him (the driver) turn around and point his car toward the mass of people. 'He floorboarded the car again with his lights off and drove straight into the blocklong mass of dancing people ... he plowed into the mass of people going an estimated 60 miles per hour. Eighty per cent of the people didn't even know what was happening.'"

Once the car stopped "and then all of a sudden he put the car in reverse and floored it about 75 feet," Bryant said. "More people were smashed by the car ... all this time people were screaming, the band was still playing and people still didn't know what had happened."

Early Deaths On State Roads

By The Associated Press

A 20-year-old East Lansing youth was killed Friday when his motorcycle ran off a road and crashed into a house near Haslett as Michigan's weekend traffic death toll climbed to five. The Associated Press count of traffic fatalities began at 6 p.m. Friday and runs through midnight Sunday. Killed in the house-motorcycle collision was Robert M. Dixon, who had been driving on Lake Drive near Haslett. Other victims included: Lynda Bostic, 20, of Mentor, Ohio, when her car struck a tree today in southeastern Ionia County. Lorenza Ross, 50, of Detroit, Friday night when his car struck a guard rail at a Penn Central viaduct over the I 96 freeway in Dearborn. Jeffrey Zimmerman, 14, of Owosso, thrown under a tractor which ran into a ditch while pulling a hayride in Owosso Township of Shiawassee County Friday night. Timothy Brocher, 19, of Birmingham, when his car crossed the center line of U.S. 24 and struck another car today.

Convict Kohler For Price Fixing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three companies and three executives have been convicted in federal court of conspiring to fix prices on an estimated $1 billion worth of plumbing fixtures. Two of the firms—American Standard Corp., New York, and Borg-Warner Corp., Chicago, said Friday they would appeal the conviction. A spokesman for the Kohler Co., Kohler, Wis., was not immediately available for comment. Judge Louis Rosenberg ordered an investigation before sentencing the firms and Joseph P. Decker, American Standard vice president; Daniel J. Quinn, retired American Standard executive, and Norman R. Heid, Kohler vice president. The jury returned the verdict Friday night after 5 hours of deliberation. They had been hearing the case for 16 weeks. John C. Fricano, special assistant to the U.S. attorney general for antitrust action, said the conspiracy began in a Chicago hotel room when the defendants agreed to drop their regular enamel bathtub lines and sell only more expensive acid-resistant tubs at inflated prices. The defendants were the last of 15 corporations and eight individuals indicted by the government for antitrust violations in the plumbing fixtures industry. The others pleaded no contest and were fined a total of $370,000. Rosenberg sentenced several of the executives to prison. The judge could hand out maximum fines of $50,000 to each defendant and maximum prison sentences of one-year to the individuals.

A Panax Publication

Ralph S. Kaziatek, General Manager Jean Worth, Editor

The Editor's Outlook

This is my last editorial.

Over many years I have written thousands of them and I guess I learned more from them than the persons who read them.

It's a demanding discipline to try to say something sensible every day and when the result is published the process becomes even more demanding. (It's safe to say many things that it isn't safe to publish.)

Readers have been kind to me, merciful about my errors and misjudgments and generous about their agreements with the views expressed. The most helpful are the dissenters, because often they enlarge the editor's knowledge and understanding of the subject.

Let me devote my last editorial to the editor's view of the editorial column.

I do not conceive of it as an instrument of narrow function. It shouldn't be all death and taxes; it should have the joy of living in it and express the editor's view on matters both light and serious.

The prime purpose of the editorial is to stimulate thought. The current accent on editorials is on shorties. Mine have been much criticized for their length. I tried to background the opinions expressed.

The editorial writer is not concerned only with immediacy and the hot breath of today's happening. He tries to put it into a context of its importance. He is very mindful of the great achievements of our people, of the difficulty with which they were won and of the necessity of keeping them.

Topping these achievements are our freedoms. They are fragile. Peoples have been free before and then lost it. When our freedoms are threatened the editor gets excited. And he sees many threats in the projection of seemingly harmless first steps in the encroachments on human liberties.

He works for human enlightenment and his concept of it brings him into collision at times with forces regarded as its guardians — the professions, educators, the clergy. This is the key to all progress and security in a democracy. Our strength rests in our people and they must be informed and knowing if they are to keep the nation safe.

Today — especially — they must be able to change.

There is a great challenge to our modern society — and to the editor — in the great speed of change today. It leads to the necessity for new opinions. Editors are accused of changing their minds. They'd certainly better if the situation calls for it!

Cardinal Newman said it well. "In a higher world," he said, "it may be otherwise, but here below, to live is to change, and to be perfect is to have changed often."

Consistency can be the bugbear of little minds.

The editor deals in news. It is a highly perishable commodity. His work affects him, of course. And it gives him different views than those of industrialists, professional men, educators, clergymen and others on some matters. Ideally, he should see the public interest, which encompasses all the others.

The editor tries to deal in facts, but no one knows better than he, eventually, the many faces of truth, the difficulty of identifying it in complex situations, and the difficulty of getting public acceptance of it sometimes even when it can be identified. When a minority group is in the right, for instance, the fact is harder for the majority to swallow.

The editor inevitably becomes less impressed with our material progress than with our humanistic achievements. They're difficult and they're precious and lasting. We read about the great men of history and thrill to the greatness of their gifts to us.

Editors are very much impressed by humans, their goodness under adversity and mistreatment, their sacrifices for others, their industry, their loyalty, their faith, their loving. They trust in a jury of citizens above the savants of science when they observe a happening like the recent trial of Sirhan Sirhan for the assassination of Robert Kennedy. The defense mustered a bank of psychiatrists who failed so miserably to agree among themselves that the jury members rejected it out-of-hand as a legitimate means of determining the man's criminality.

If there's a lesson in a long labor at editorial writing it is that good comes from speaking out about our problems.

Cheating Students

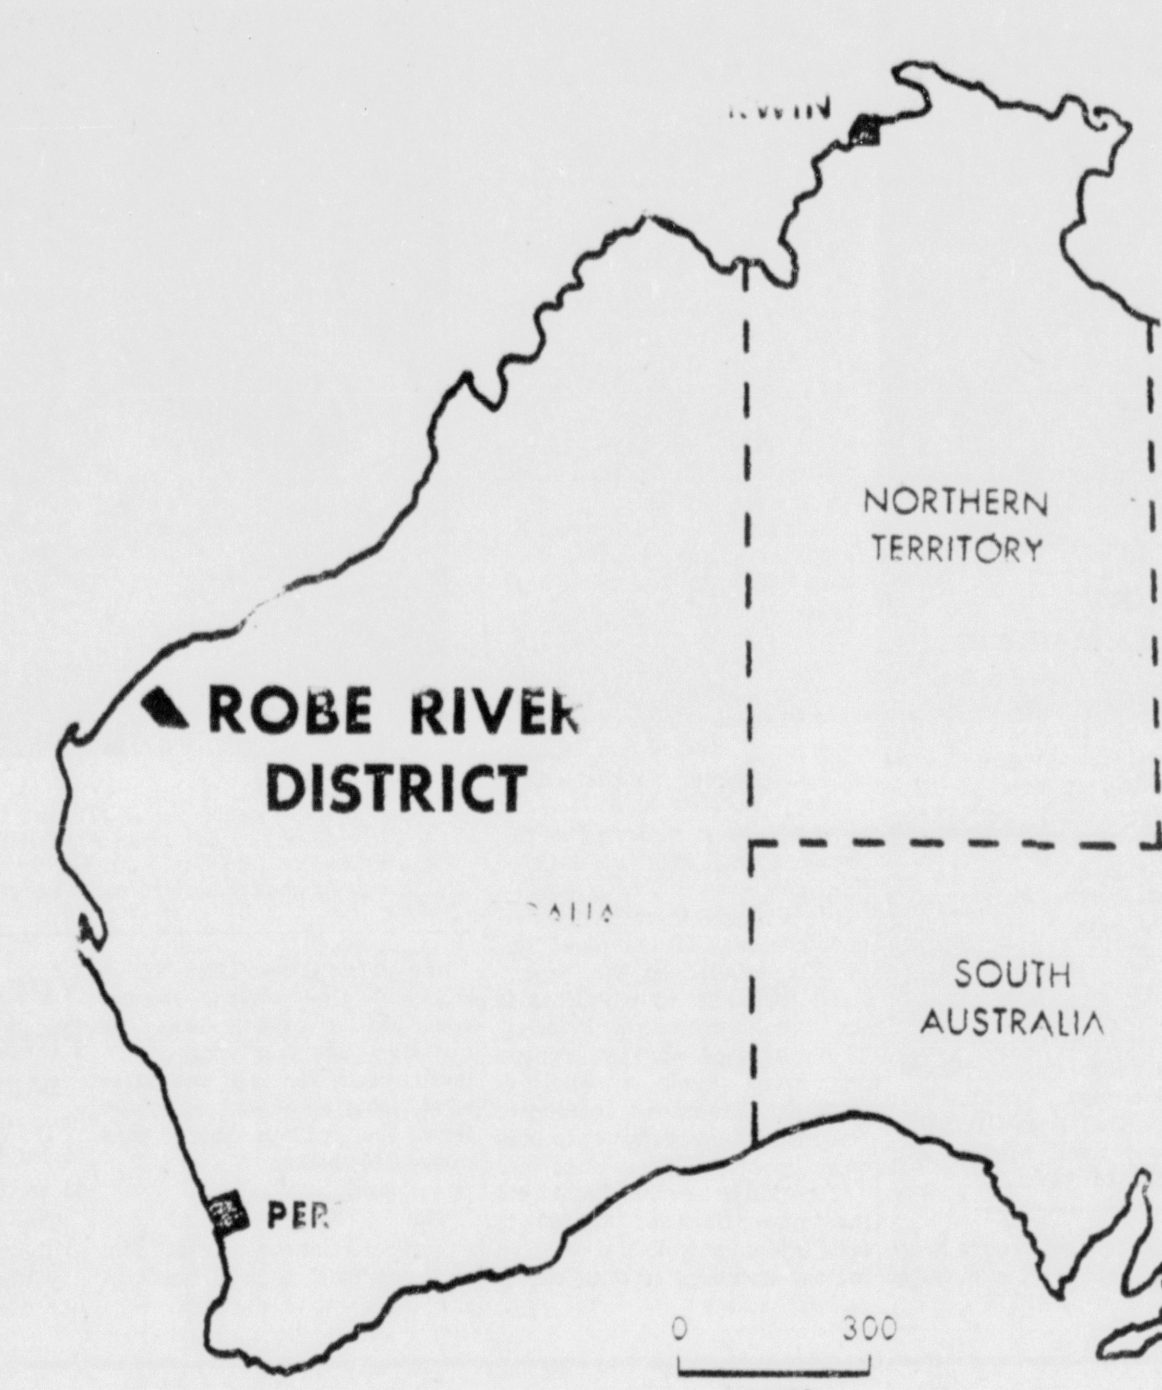

This is what computer scientists would call a case of "negative feedback":

The more parents increase pressures on children to do well in school, the more the children tend to cheat and the more their grades decline.

Education U.S.A., a weekly newsletter on educational affairs, reports on a study of 11 school districts in New Jersey conducted by Columbia University. It was found that only 35 per cent of the B students who perceive "little or no" maternal pressure cheat, whereas 54 per cent of those who perceive "a lot or some" maternal pressure cheat.

Apparently it is the smarter children, from whom most is expected, who feel the pressure the most. It was found that while 50 per cent of those with IQs in the 61-99 range cheat, 57 per cent of those with IQs of 110 to 120 cheat.

A relationship between family income and cheating was also discovered. Only 37 per cent of the students from families with incomes of more than $15,000 a year cheat, while 57 per cent of those from families with incomes of $6,000 to $14,000 and 54 per cent of those from families below $6,000 cheat.

Cleveland Cliffs Will Supply Japs With Iron

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. announces that its wholly owned subsidiary, Cliffs Western Australian Mining Co. Pty. Ltd., has signed a contract to supply seven Japanese steel mills with 87 million tons of pellets over a 21-year period and 37 million tons of sized iron ore in 15 years.

Annual shipments would amount to 6.8 million tons of iron ore, of which 4.2 million would be pellets and 2.6 million tons would be sized ore. Shipments of sized ore are scheduled for early 1972 and shipments of pellets are to commence about the middle of 1972. The seven Japanese steel companies are:

Yawata Iron & Steel Co., Ltd., Fuji Iron & Steel Co., Ltd., Nippon Kokan Kabushiki, Sumitomo Metal Industries, Ltd., Kawasaki Steel Corp., Kobe Steel Works, Ltd., and Nishin Steel Co., Ltd.

Total investment in the iron ore project located in the Robe River district of Western Australia will amount to over $200 million and includes expenditures for the mine, township, railroad, pellet plant and loading port.

Partners in the venture, which includes CWA's 15 per cent participation, are National Bulk Carriers, Inc. of the United States; Mitsui & Co., Ltd. of Japan; Garrick Agnew, Ltd. of Perth, Australia as well as other American and Australian interests.

In commenting on the project Cliffs' President H. S. Harrison said, "Financing a project of this magnitude will not be easy in the current worldwide monetary environment, however, we are hopeful that this will be achieved enabling us to start on this project late in 1969."

Harrison also stated that the contract is believed to be the largest single mineral contract ever negotiated and that negotiations with the Japanese mills have been longer than normal due to the size and complexity of the contract.

College Students Should Foot Bill

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — If you don't have to pay the piper, the dancing may get wild.

That, briefly, is the condition now convulsing the campuses, in the view of a noted Catholic educator, Jacqueline Grennan.

She suggests a radical remedy: Give students complete responsibility, both for their conduct and also the costs.

"Radical freedom is much harder than partial freedom," she said in an interview. "As long as we've gone this far, we have to go all the way, and put buying power in their hands."

Today's collegians insist that they're entitled to a major role in running the educational machinery, she notes, but under present arrangements, they don't have to bear the costs of what they do. The oldest foot the bill.

She sees this is an artificial, unbalanced situation that produces irrational behavior. The circumstances also tend to forestall the application of St. Paul's ancient injunction: "Whatever a man sows, that will he also reap."

To bring some chastening realism into the present distorted picture, in which students want to make their own decisions but aren't accountable for the results, she proposes that they be given responsibility for both.

That would make for a more normally proportioned situation, she says, in which students not only "must decide what to do, but in which they must live with the consequences of what they do."

Miss Grennan, an eminently straightforward, vivacious and attractive Christian thinker, created a sensation in Catholic educational reform in 1967, and did so with a grace that won official Church sanction.

She gained a dispensation from her vows as a nun of the Sisters of Loretto to transform Webster College, of which she is president, from a Church institution to a secular one, under lay control.

Top Businessmen Back Judge Crockett's Action

DETROIT (AP) — Some of Detroit's top businessmen—including the chairmen of the Big Three automakers—Friday approved a report backing the release of several suspects by Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett Jr. after the March 29 New Bethel Church shootout.

The report, released at a Friday news conference by financier Max Fisher, was unanimously approved by the board of trustees of New Detroit Inc., a group formed to revitalize Detroit after the 1967 riots.

Analysis Event
The board, which Fisher chairs, includes Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lynn Townsend, General Motors Chairman James Roche and Ford Motor Co. Chairman Henry Ford II as well as United Auto Workers Union President Walter Reuther.

Fisher and New Detroit Law Committee chairman John Feikens said the report was issued after careful analysis of all events surrounding the incident in which one policeman was killed and another wounded after a meeting of the black separatist Republic of New Africa.

Fisher said analysis of court records showed the Negro judge's actions in releasing several suspects whom police had wanted held were "plausibly based in the law."

The suspects Crockett released were among over 130 persons arrested and held overnight in the aftermath of the shootings.

Fisher said the report "should provide a new basis that we are a government of laws, not of men."

The 27-page report says Crockett "had the authority to . . . inquire as to the allegation that people were being illegally detained."

Authority
It says Crockett had "the authority of law in issuing the writ of habeas corpus" which released the prisoners and concludes there was no legally probable cause for belief that even those suspects whose nitrate tests for gunpowder traces were positive had committed a crime.

Fisher said New Detroit's report—which upholds Crockett's contention that the suspects were held and given nitrate tests without being permitted counsel—"is not intended as criticism of the police or the prosecutor."

He said the non-profit agency's sole motive in issuing the report was "to act as a sort of reconciler."

Opening lead—seven of diamonds.

The defenders frequently run into discarding problems when declarer is running a long suit, but if declarer is unaware of the havoc he is causing, he may unwittingly let them off the hook.

For example, consider this hand where South got to six notrump on the sequence shown. Undoubtedly six spades would have been a better contract, and it could have been easily made by establishing an extra club trick in dummy.

But South was in six notrump and went down one when he failed to exert the maximum pressure on the opponents.

West led a diamond. South winning East's nine with the queen. Declarer now ran six spade tricks to produce this position:

North
♥ A Q 8 7 6
♦ 10 4
♣ K J
South
♠ K J 6

At this point declarer elected to cash his three high clubs, hoping to find the suit divided 3-3. When East showed out on the third round, he had to go down one.

Actually, South could have made the slam by the simple expedient of cashing the ace of diamonds in the diagrammed position. Had he done this, West would have found it impossible to find a good discard.

A club discard would automatically have given South the rest of the tricks, while the queen of hearts discard would have permitted South to lead the king of hearts and in that way establish his twelfth trick.

South was only a trick away from a successful squeeze, but, as happens so often in such situations, he failed to lead the card that would have brought home the marbles.

Chou En Lai Is No. 3 In China

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's official Hsinhua news agency made it clear today that Premier Chou En-Lai remains the nation's No. 3 man, ranking directly after Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his heir-designate, Defense Minister Lin Biao.

The agency also established that Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, was in a position of authority. Hsinhua did this by listing Chou in his third place position and Chiang Ching as among those present at a series of receptions of ambassadors by Chairman Mao.

Earlier this week, the new 290-man Communist Central Committee named a five-man Politburo standing committee which will run the government, army and party on a day-to-day basis.

This elite consists of Mao, Lin, Chou, Chen Po-Ta, Mao's old secretary and leader of the purge movement, and party wheelhorse Kang Sheng.

She Couldn't Trust Self With 1st Baby

Dear Ann: Our teen-age son had to be hospitalized last week for a minor operation. They put Yule in a semi-private room for $50 a day. His roommate was a man about 70 who looked dead. He had cardiac failure and his breathing was so labored you could hear it in the hall.

Yule is a nervous boy to begin with and being in the same room with that man upset him terribly. When my husband asked the doctor if he could please find another room for Yule he said we were lucky to get any kind of a room — that the hospital was jammed.

Two days after Yule's surgery, his roommate died. Yule fainted when they wheeled the man out. This incident slowed up his recovery by at least a week.

Please tell me if there is somebody we can sue. Also, what do you think of a hospital that would do a thing like this? — Irate Mother.

Dear I: Sue anybody you like but you won't collect. Most hospitals are extremely crowded. They do the best they can. Granted it was unfortunate that your son had to be roomed with the old man, but I'm sure they didn't have a better place to put him.

Dear Ann Landers: When I had my first baby I was frightened to death, not of childbirth, but of taking care of him. I was afraid to hold him, afraid to feed him, and afraid to bathe him.

I had nightmares of my baby choking on milk. I dreamed that I accidentally drowned him in the bathwater. When he cried at night, I was paralyzed with fear. I was sure he was seriously ill.

One day a neighbor who sensed my anxiety explained how each of us needs something outside ourselves to believe in. She said we must place our trust and faith in a higher being. I've never been a religious person, Ann, but that wise woman unlocked the door to peace of mind for me when she uttered these simple words — "If you worry, you don't trust. If you trust, you don't worry."

Her one phrase changed my life. Please print it. Perhaps it will help some other young mother as it helped me. — F.D.

Dear F. D.: How beautiful! And how true! Her words are worth repeating — "If you worry, you don't trust. If you trust, you don't worry." Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: You'll never know the good you do. When you printed the address of Gamblers Anonymous I'm sure you helped thousands.

And now, I wonder if you know about Gam-Anon. This organization helps wives and husbands of compulsive gamblers. We at Gam-Anon are learning to live with a person who has the illness. Anyone who wishes information should write to Gam-Anon, P. O. Box M, Norwalk, Calif., 90650. — Grateful Member

Dear Member: Here's your letter and I urge those who are having problems because of gambling to gamble once more — on the price of a postage stamp.

AMC, Chrysler Making Recalls

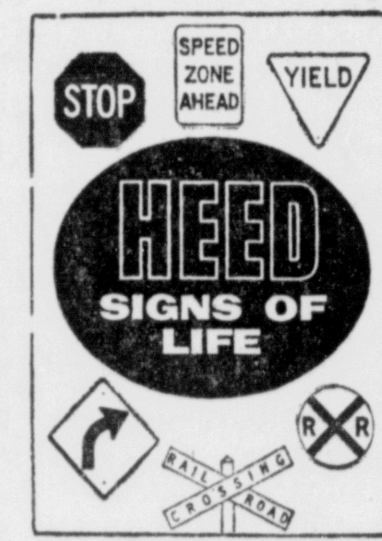

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. are recalling a total of nearly 73,000 cars for inspection and correction of possible safety defects.

AMC said Friday it was seeking return to dealers of 54,067 autos. Of the total, AMC said, 23,032 cars built between Feb. 10 and March 10 this year would be checked to find 300 to 400 cars with seat belt connectors which fail to meet company specifications "due to improper heat treating by a supplier."

AMC also said it will inspect 27,242 Javelin and AMC cars with manual transmissions, built during 1968 and this year, for adequate clearance between the clutch actuating rod and a brake line. In cases of too little clearance, the firm said it would install a clip to place the brake line farther from the clutch rod.

AMC also recalled 3,813, 1969 Rambler and Rebel models equipped with reclining seats to replace holsters which store one end of seat belts. The firm said the holsters could result in trouble with the belt webbing in severe impacts.

Chrysler said it was calling in 18,905 current model Chrysler, Plymouth Fury and Dodge Monaco autos to find a small number of mismatched seat belt components which may have been installed.

A Mayor Speaks —

Lee Baxton, an American businessman and civic leader, has given the following testimony:

"While I served my city as mayor for two years, it was my duty to preside over the Mayor's Court, during which time 2,400 cases came before me. I started asking those charged with violations of a criminal nature if they had been regular attendants at church or Sunday School in that year, and I made a standing offer that if any person with such a record was convicted, I would pay the court costs and the fine for them out of my own pocket.

"Not once in the 2,400 cases did I have to pay anyone's fine!

"This was proof to me that the influence of church and Sunday School is a great factor in keeping down crime. Though all who worship may not be saved, yet God's house and His people have a mighty influence for good on those who do attend regularly."

We cordially invite you —

Charles Robbs Look For House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The couple was looking for a house as do hundreds of others every day in Washington. They figured it would take about 10 days, and she said, "we'll be lucky if we find one sooner."

The couple was Marine Maj. Charles Robb and his wife, the former Lynda Bird. The former president's son-in-law is fresh from a 13-month tour in Vietnam and he has been assigned to the capital for about three years as a recruiting officer.

WASH FLOOR DAILY

Because modern floor waxes withstand washing without losing their shine, it is a good idea to dip a sponge mop into a pail of soap and wipe the kitchen floor daily. This way insures that sand and mud will not be tracked into the rest of the house.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

MSU Journalism Students Protest

Pickets Are Typewriters

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University journalism students plan to pull off a new type of protest aimed at upgrading facilities in their 1892-vintage classroom building. They'll tote typewriters instead of protest signs. And they won't crash the administration building. They have an appointment. The students have scheduled a march Tuesday from the MSU

Journalism Building to a just-opened administration building to talk with acting President Walter Adams about their problems. "We're going to take our old typewriters over there to show him," said Patricia Anstett, a Detroit senior active in the movement. Some 45 "J-students" met Friday with Dr. Erwin Bettinghaus, assistant dean of the School of Communication Arts. "He just told us to see Dr. Adams," Miss Anstett said.

"So that's what we're going to do. We don't think Dr. Adams is completely aware of things over there."

"There are two typing labs for 343 undergraduate and graduate students in the department," she said. "The Johns overflow in the basement when it rains."

Classrooms are inadequate, Miss Anstett said, adding that many journalism students trek to the soil science, home economics or natural resources buildings for their communications courses. Office space is tight too, said one professor.

The students plan to ask Adams to bring up the situation at the next meeting of the MSU Board of Trustees. They seek immediate expansion and remodeling of the Journalism Building.

Charles Rejects C5A Criticisms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The outgoing chief of the controversial C5A supertransport program has rejected criticisms of its climbing cost and defended Air Force contracts on the project as the best the service ever signed.

Robert H. Charles, assistant secretary of the Air Force for installations and logistics, said he assumed Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird agreed with his view. But the Pentagon said

Laird had told Charles before-hand he would not endorse the statement.

Speaking to reporters Friday, Charles categorized some criticisms of the C5A as untruths, half truths, myths and falsehoods.

"I think it is a shame and a disservice to the Air Force and to sound procurement practices that it has been unfairly criticized," Charles said after being introduced to newsmen by Laird.

Charles' sharpest denials were on charges made Tuesday by the C5A contract supervisor, Col. Kenneth N. Beckman, before a House subcommittee.

Beckman said Charles and another assistant Air Force secretary now out of the government had sanctioned an April 1968 decision to withhold information on soaring costs of the C5A program.

The colonel said the decision was to prevent possible adverse effect of the information on stock prices of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the C5A contractor.

Blount Asking Mail Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has asked for rate increases on special delivery of first class and air mail, registered mail, COD and return receipts.

The hikes may be modified after public comment, but since they concern special services they do not require approval of Congress.

All told, the fee increases are estimated as adding another $20 million to postal revenues. They would be effective July 1.

According to the Friday edition of the Federal Register, the special delivery charge for letter mail and air parcel post would be increased 15 cents, the minimum advancing from 30 to 45 cents.

An extra 10 cents would be added for special delivery of other mail. The COD fees, which range from 60 cents to $1 would go up a dime, and return receipts would jump 10 to 15 cents.

Concert Group To Start Membership Drive

The annual campaign kickoff dinner of the Delta County Community Concert Association will be held Monday at the Dells Supper Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bender Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Bender are chairmen of the affair, which will honor about 60 workers who will be contacting music lovers in Delta County until May 10 to secure membership in the local association.

Catherine Leuer, New York representative for community concerts, will attend the program.

During Miss Leuer's winter visit, officers and directors of the Delta County Association secured three outstanding attractions for the 1969-70 season, headlined by the acclaimed Dick Schory and the Percussion Pops Orchestra. Also scheduled to perform in Escanaba are Doris Yarick, soprano, and her husband, Richard Cross, bass-baritone. In joint appearance, and the Neil Wolfe Trio with Wolfe on the piano accompanied by string bass and percussion.

Schory's sound has been well received by audiences across the United States. The orchestra features 20 musicians playing over 200 brass, woodwind, string and percussion instruments.

"Our big thing is staging," Schory said. "People want to see a show and we give it to them."

Headquarters for the membership campaign will be at the Chamber of Commerce. Any resident of the county is eligible to subscribe.

Delta County directors said at the close of the campaign a fourth attraction for next season will be selected. No admissions will be sold for single attractions.

Police Ambush Kills Ex-Con

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Ila Faye Dent was in jail today after a 300-mile chase in Southeast Texas that ended with the death of her ex-convict husband, felled in a hail of gunfire.

Robert S. Dent, 22, suffered fatal shotgun and pistol wounds moments after he followed highway patrolman J. Kenneth Crone into an isolated farm house Friday. The couple had held Crone hostage five hours in his patrol car during the chase.

"They held a gun on me most of the time, one in my side for a while and one in my neck for a while," said Crone, 27.

Mrs. Dent, 21, was charged by justice of the peace J. Paul McNeill with robbery by firearms and placed without bond in the Jefferson County jail.

Dent, convicted in 1964 and 1966 on charges of breaking into coin-operated vending machines, was shot in the face, neck and right arm after officers sprang a trap in the farm house at Wheelock, north of Bryan.

It started when Port Arthur police reported they had chased a speeding sports car after midnight. Crone and other police sought the car for several hours.

When they spotted the car they halted it with gunfire, but the couple inside—later identified as the Dents—fled into the woods. Bloodhounds were used in a search that was nearly halted when Crone received a call from a rancher about the couple.

Crone went to the ranch near Anahuac to answer. He said the couple had told the rancher that two hitchhikers had robbed them and stolen their car.

But the Dents drew weapons on Crone.

"They made me get into my car," the patrolman said. "I was driving at first, and they treated me okay until the cars (other law enforcement vehicles) started closing in on us."

"Then they threatened to shoot me."

More than 50 patrol cars followed the couple and Crone during the chase that followed. The vehicles reached speeds of 95 miles per hour on narrow farm-to-market roads.

"I told him (Dent) he would be better off giving himself up," Crone said. "I told him he didn't want to get into any murder scrape. But he said he might as well. He didn't have anything to live for."

Doctor Wrong On Life Estimate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three and a half years ago, Donald L. Correll was told he would die within 12 months. He didn't.

Friday, a Superior Court jury awarded the 49-year-old bus driver $40,000 in damages from the doctor who made the fatal diagnosis.

Correll had testified that the doctor's warning had prompted him to quit his job, losing 18 years of seniority and pension rights.

President Picks Derby Longshot

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, using loyalty to his native state rather than a racing form, picked a 20-1 morning line longshot as his favorite in today's Kentucky Derby.

Before leaving Washington to attend the derby, Nixon said he didn't follow horse racing closely.

"If there's a California horse in it, I'll take the California horse," the President said Friday.

That would have to be Fleet Allied, one of the outsiders, since it is the only entry born and bred in California. Majestic Prince, the favorite, captured most of his races in California but was born in Kentucky.

Officials at Churchill Downs said Nixon is the first President to attend the big race. They said President Rutherford B. Hayes had attended a race at Lexington, Ky., in 1879—but not the derby.

On his way to Louisville today for the 95th running of the derby, the President and Mrs. Nixon planned an hour-long visit at the home of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in Columbia, S.C.

Byrnes, a onetime Democrat who backed Nixon's race for the presidency, celebrated his 90th birthday and 63rd wedding anniversary with his wife Friday.

A bipartisan congressional contingent gathered to accompany the President on his trip today, including Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen and House and Senate members from both Kentucky and South Carolina.

A room set aside at the track for Nixon and his party has its own betting windows, thick green carpeting and 16 tables and chairs.

Nixon was invited to watch the race from the private box of Gov. Louie B. Nunn overlooking the finish line.

Nixon planned to return to Washington immediately after the derby.

Drug Suspect In Hunger Strike

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Preliminary hearing has been set for Wednesday for a long-haired, bearded Michigan man who has refused to eat or speak since his arrest on marijuana charges 11 days ago.

Charles R. Lasater, 22, of East Detroit, Mich., appeared before Eau Claire County Judge Thomas H. Barland in a hearing Friday to determine Lasater's competency to stand trial.

Lasater was arrested April 22 while he was hitchhiking near Eau Claire. He was charged with possession and use of marijuana.

In a statement he wrote out for the court, Lasater said he was following a form of Eastern asceticism and has neither eaten nor spoken since his arrest. The statement said he intended to fast at least two weeks or until he obtained some benefit from the endeavor. He also wrote that he does not intend to remain silent indefinitely.

Lasater nodded his head when asked whether he would break his fast at the court's request. Barland then asked him to eat at least a minimum of food, to maintain his strength.

Lasater gave negative signals when asked the asceticism he was following was Hindu, Moslem or Buddhist. He did not indicate what it was.

Losing Money Being Witness

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After appearing in court seven times as a witness, Larry Mazeppa told the judge, "I'm losing more money here than I did in the burglary."

Mazeppa owns a laundry from which $20 in quarters was taken in January. He told the judge that when he has to take time out from business to come to court it costs him money.

The judge called the situation inexcusable and said he would personally find out why police men failed to show up the seventh time—thereby making it necessary to schedule an eighth appearance for Mazeppa.

OK Rules On Applying For Water Bond Funds

LANSING (AP) — Acting with unaccustomed bipartisan unity, the House Friday approved two bills specifying how communities may apply for construction grants from bonds totaling $335 million for water pollution treatment and sewerage construction.

The bills now move to the Senate for further action.

Late attempts to add local interest amendments were rejected. The major, $285-million formula for state aid to federally backed local water antipollution projects passed 92-8, followed by an 85-10 vote for a $50-million formula for access sewers.

House members applauded as the minority floor leader, William Hampton, R-Birmingham, urged that Democrats Thomas Anderson and Warren Goemaere be named co-sponsors of the bills along with Republican Ray Smit of Ann Arbor.

Judge Projects
Anderson and Goemaere are co-chairmen of the conservation committee which substantially revised the criteria for judging which projects would be accepted for state aid.

House observers say the committee revisions, largely the work of Smit, a civil engineer, apparently eliminated most, if not all, porkbarrel loopholes.

Final approval of local project applications would remain with the Legislature. However, it would have only 45 days to act after receiving recommendations from the Water Resources Commission. Longer delay would mean automatic approval of the commission's list.

Sponsors of the bill said that feature of the bill leaves complicated engineering decisions to technically qualified experts and should screen out most of the political wheeling and dealing that normally is part of legislative action on such bills.

Grade Them
Projects, instead, would be graded according to "point" scales estimating a community's pollution control needs as well as financial burdens.

To receive funds from the $285 million bond, communities would have to be eligible for federal aid, but only for construction begun after June 30, 1967.

The $50 million bond, on the other hand, is deliberately restricted to communities which do not qualify for federal grants.

One problem, Anderson said in defending the bills from floor amendments, is that pollution far exceeds the money available to combat it. Revenue from the smaller, $50 million bond must be divided among communities now without any pollution treatment facilities. Paying for what is actually needed would cost $500 million, Anderson said.

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He thrills at the reflections cast upon the water by the rainbow palette of the setting sun. He is awed, humbled — yet, at the same time, fiercely proud.

His feelings contradict each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overpowering glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man — a man created in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one sense we are insignificant, and in another we are all-important. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man — the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is forever revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we must come if we are to find the proper balance in life.

MANISTIQUE

CONGRESSMAN PHIL RUPPE was in Manistique Friday and met with several area citizens who consulted him on a variety of items. Ruppe conferred with Richard Keteik, 145 New Delta Ave., on the status of Manistique's proposed Armory. Keteik is a member of the Armory Committee seeking to secure federal funding for an Armory in Manistique. Ruppe held office hours in the Court House from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and left for St. Ignace following a luncheon with friends. (Daily Press Photo)

Ruppe Predicts Surcharge Cut, Other Reforms

"The taxpayer revolt," as he characterized it, is responsible for the present trend toward a tax reform program, Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Michigan) said Friday.

The Houghton Congressman predicted that the income tax surcharge would be decreased from 10 to five per cent and that oil and timber depletion schedules would be tightened and probably reduced.

Ruppe made his remarks following a luncheon with a group of Manistique civic and business leaders. Earlier, he held office hours at the courthouse and visited a few spots in the downtown area.

Inflation And War

Inflation and the war in Vietnam are the two issues of greatest concern to residents of the Upper Peninsula, Ruppe said.

"Unless there is a break in the inflationary trend, the unrest in this country will grow substantially," he predicted, adding that "Tight money is not the answer. We had that."

"We, in the Upper Peninsula, feel inflation, but we have a soft economy. The minute the hue and cry is raised for cutting non-essentials—harbor programs, forest development, etc.—we are the hardest hit because our economy depends on these," he remarked.

The closing of the Job Corps centers at Ironwood and Marquette also will affect those areas since their economies, especially Ironwood's, need that economic boost, he said.

Offering no solutions to the Vietnam issue, Ruppe said that unless President Nixon does something "it will become Nixon's war, just as before him it was LBJ's war and Kennedy's war."

Ruppe said he felt encouraged that South Vietnam is now willing to talk directly

Students See Puppet Show

A puppet presentation of "Jack and the Beanstalk" was staged Friday for both St. Francis de Sales and public school elementary students. The production was done by the Nicolo Marionette Co. of New York.

A spirited play of action and suspense, "Jack and the Beanstalk" was presented in fairy tale settings of the English Tudor era. Old English folk tunes were used for the singing and dancing marionettes and a live giant added to the youngsters' interest of the program.

Turkey Shoot Set For 2 Areas

LANSING (AP) — Northern Michigan's spring turkey shoot is expected to result in a bag of only up to 100 tom turkeys, but still is considered an attraction to hunters.

The season for male birds only is May 9-12 and May 16-19 in the Baldwin and Mio areas.

Last year's spring hunt, limited to 800 permits in the Baldwin area, resulted in a kill of 25 male turkeys.

This season, the 3,200 permit-holders are expected to take up to 100 birds.

"The spring turkey season is a challenging brand of sport which puts a premium more on the hunt itself than the kill," said Vic Janson, Natural Resources Department turkey specialist.

"If hunters will take it on these terms as they did last year, they should have a pretty good time whether or not they connect," he said.

Zany Air Race Poses Problems

LONDON (AP) — About 400 contestants take off Sunday in a zany air race that poses more problems on the ground than up above.

The idea is to get from the top of the Post Office Tower in London to the Empire State Building in New York—or the other way around—as fast as possible.

To beat congested downtown traffic in the two capitals, the fliers will resort to helicopters, speedboats and even a rickshaw.

London's Daily Mail, sponsor of the race, has offered two prizes of $12,000 each for the shortest time each way. Other firms have added special categories with additional prizes totaling some $144,000.

The 21 categories range from supersonic jets entered by the Royal Navy to 80-mile-an-hour light aircraft. There is even a slot for ordinary airline passengers who let others do their flying for them.

Angus McPherson, the Daily Mail air correspondent, called the race "the most fantastic aviation event of the century."

Not all contestants will fly off at once. They have until next Sunday. The first to take off will be Anne Alcock, an 18-year-old niece of one of the pioneers of the first non-stop transatlantic flight.

She will descend from the top of the Post Office Tower in an elevator going 600 feet a minute. After that it's up to her how to get to the airport.

The race marks the 50th anniversary of the first non-stop transatlantic flight by Sr. John Alcock and Lt. Arthur Whitten Brown in 1919. They completed the 1,880-mile flight from St. John's, Nfld., to Clifden, Ireland, in 15 hours 57 minutes, flying a Vickers Vimy.

Majestic Prince Remains Favorite In Derby Running

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Big Four and a quartet of questionable challengers went to the post today in the 95th running of the most famous race in the world—the Kentucky Derby.

Favored in the betting the day before the race was Majestic Prince, the pride of the West Coast who became part of Frank McMahon's stable when his trainer paid $250,000 for him two years ago.

With $183,756 already in the Derby till—because the betting windows opened this morning, Majestic Prince was listed at 8-5 with Florida Derby winner Top Knight second choice at 5-2.

The early bird bettors made Claiborne Farm's Dike third in the betting at 7-2 and Arts and Letters, Paul Mellon's Blue Grass Stakes winner, next at 4-1.

Others in the field included

Ocean Roar, 21-1; Traffic Mark, 30-1; Fleet Allied, 4-1, and Rae Jet, 60-1.

In the forefront of many minds in Derbytown, however, were one man and one horse who weren't listed in the Churchill Downs program for the $125,000 added classic.

The man was Bill Shoemaker; the horse was Drone.

Shoemaker, one of the biggest little men in the world, was flat on his back at Centinela Hospital in Inglewood, Calif., felled by a horse that threw him earlier this week.

Drone was in his stall at Claiborne Farm near Paris, Ky., almost absolutely ruled out of racing for life after a fracture of the slab bone in the knee he suffered just before the Florida Derby.

Both had substitutes in the Derby.

Braulio Baeza, the stoic Panamanian who captured Derby laurels aboard Chateaugay in 1963, sat in for Shoemaker aboard Arts and Letters, Paul Mellon's Blue Grass Stakes winner.

Dike, trying to uphold a family tradition, went to the post in place of stablemate Drone.

"William is asleep right now," his wife explained by telephone the night before the 95th Derby, "but I think he'll be watching the race on television and will be rooting for his horse to win."

Shoemaker suffered a double pelvic break and other internal injuries when he was thrown from a horse in the Hollywood Park paddock on Wednesday.

"He's taking it all in stride. He always does," Babbs Shoemaker said in a telephone interview from the jockey's hospital room.

Neither was at Churchill Downs when the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" floated across the skies and the field began the march to the post for America's most famous horse race.

Neither was there. But neither was missing, either, from the hearts of many of the 100,000 fans.

Lakers Hoping To Take Crown

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, hopeful that a one-legged Jerry West is better than nothing, made a bid for their first National Basketball Association championship today in the sixth game of a playoff showdown with the Boston Celtics.

The Lakers needed just one victory in the best-of-7 series as they took the court at Boston Garden at 5 p.m. EDT before a national television audience.

The Celtics, a bunch of old pros accustomed to the pressure cooker in winning the NBA title in 10 of the last 12 years, had their backs to the wall, but weren't conceding anything while still breathing in defense of the crown.

West suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg late in the fifth game, after pouring in 39 points, flew with the team to Boston Friday. He worked out lightly at the Garden in the evening and indicated he would be ready, at least with the help of heavy bandaging.

The Lakers also received good news from Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 veteran who admitted he played with blurry vision after taking a finger in the eye in the third period at Los Angeles Thursday.

Carty Makes 1969 Debut; Helps Braves To Victory

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty marked his return by flying out, but Richie Allen stayed away after missing two chances to fly.

Carty, who missed all last season because of tuberculosis, played for the first time this year Friday night and helped Atlanta to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles with a sacrifice fly.

Philadelphia, on the other hand, defeated St. Louis 7-2 despite the absence of Allen, who remained in Philadelphia after missing two games.

In other National League games San Diego stopped Cincinnati 8-5, Houston trimmed San Francisco 3-1, Pittsburgh downed Montreal 7-3 and Chicago got by New York 6-4.

Philadelphia, whose return to the lineup had been delayed by a dislocated shoulder, came to the plate as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning with the bases loaded. His fly ball drove in Clete Boyer with the run that tied the game 4-4.

"I was nervous when all those fans stood and applauded," the 28-year-old Brave said. "But after I swung the first time I felt great. I knew I had to do something, and it turned out okay. It's wonderful to be back. I just wish I could play regular."

Allen is supposed to be a regular—he's hitting .346 with three homers and 10 runs batted in—but there are times he's absent from the lineup because he's not at the park.

Western Captures Conference Lead

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Western Michigan took over the Mid-American Conference baseball lead Friday by whipping Ohio University 6-0, showing the Obots into second place.

John Pasierb pitched the full nine innings, scattering seven hits, as he gained his sixth victory against no losses this season.

The Broncos and Bobcats were scoreless until the sixth when Western Michigan catcher Dan Benoit doubled home a run. Benoit tripled in the seventh inning when the Broncos scored five more.

WMU brought its conference record to 6-1, with an over-all record of 20-6. Ohio University is 6-2 in the conference, 9-7 over-all.

Eskymo Golfers Place Sixth In Marinette Meet

MARINETTE — Green Bay West topped first place honors over seven teams, including the Escanaba Eskymos, competing in the Marinette Invitational golf tournament held yesterday afternoon at the Little River Golf Club.

Green Bay West had a winning total of 327 while Oconto Falls and Menominee tied for second at 329. The other places went to Shawano 336; Oconto 342; Escanaba 364 and Marinette 366.

Steve Ohman paced the Escanaba golfers with rounds of 46 and 42 for an 88. He was followed by Gene Olsen 50-42-92; Mike Beck 47-45-92; Dick Peterson 43-49-92; and Kent Anderson 48-45-93. Terry Fitchett of Green Bay West took medalist honors with rounds of 38 and 39 for a 77.

The Cubs exploded for four runs in the fourth against the Mets, the first on Ron Santo's homer and the other three on a homer by Al Spangler.

Pro Grid Owners Adjourn Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — Pro football's 26 club owners were on their way home today after another session of realignment meetings that proved inconclusive but at which there was enough significant movement to satisfy even Paul (The Crusader) Brown.

Brown, the most outspoken of the American Football League's owners on the subject of realignment in California was far more reticent in New York, leaving no doubt he had left the arena in favor of Pete (The Persuader) Rozelle.

Brown left the arena with only trophy he insisted on—a decision favoring a 13-13 restructuring of the 16-team National Football League and 10-team AFL—and turned the problem of implementing that to the commissioner of both leagues.

Rozelle thus becomes the focal point for the complex problem that has evolved, finding three NFL teams to move to the AFL, by any one of the many methods at his disposal: Talking. Talking more. And talking still more.

"We came here committed to get a 13-13 arrangement," Brown pointed out. "That's reasonably settled. Now we're just sitting tight to see what their (NFL) program is, give our opinion and then cast our vote. The 13-13 was our big objective."

"Pete Rozelle has a very difficult job and we certainly should give him the time he needs to accomplish it. I know his aims are the same as the Bengals. Pete is trying real hard to bring it all off and in the final analysis I have every confidence it will be consummated."

It is the marriage of three NFL teams to the conference that will also house the current 10 teams in the AFL. Rozelle has had private talks with five or six teams and in the next several days will continue to talk privately, possibly even enlarging the circle.

Rozelle said the owners had decided to adjourn Friday and reconvene in about a week because they felt "the time could be best spent in private meetings. Our intent at the next meeting would be to stay until we get it done."

called again to say Richie had missed that flight, too. She explained that he was going from airline counter to airline counter and missed the plane in between.

Fortunately for the Phillies, Larry Hise made the plane and had a very prominent place in the lineup. The rookie outfielder collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored two.

After Carty's sacrifice fly tied the game for Atlanta, Orlando Cepeda put the Braves ahead to stay with a two-run double in the seventh. Hank Aaron homered for Atlanta while Willie Crawford and Tom Haller connected for the Dodgers.

Al Ferrara, a former Dodger, blasted San Diego past Cincinnati, rapping a pinch-hit, grand slam home run in the fourth. All four runs were unearned, the result of an error by Tony Perez.

Jim Wynn drove in all three Houston runs against San Francisco's Gaylord Perry with two homers, and Pittsburgh downed Montreal with the help of the wildness of the Expos' pitchers.

Larry Jaster helped the Pirates start a four-run outburst in the fifth inning by throwing wild on a bunt, and two of the runs came across on wild pitches by Dan McGinn and Carroll Sembrar.

The Cubs exploded for four runs in the fourth against the Mets, the first on Ron Santo's homer and the other three on a homer by Al Spangler.

Yastrzemski Ignites Red Sox In Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Mayo Smith has a new battle cry for his faltering Detroit batters—"Let's dump the slump."

And they can take a lesson from Carl Yastrzemski, who blasted himself out of the hitting doldrums Friday night with two homers and a double that scored all of Boston's runs in a 3-2 win over Detroit.

Yastrzemski — the American League's batting champ for the last two seasons—had entered the game with a meager .202 hitting average and only 11 runs batted in.

"I don't know what happened to me," he said. "I had a great spring and felt stronger than ever. Then I guess I started pressing at the start of the regular season and the next thing you knew I was in a slump."

"I just hope I'm out of it now. I still hope to put together about three straight good days to prove it to myself," he said.

A dismal Mayo Smith—haunted by the memories of hitting rambages by World Champion Tigers last season—said "We're still not hitting a lick. It isn't just one or two guys. It's all of them."

"We're long overdue to bust out. Maybe when one guy does, everyone will follow. Our pitching has been surprisingly good," he said.

The teams collide again at Boston today with Mickey Lolich (2-1) who has wound up two weeks of Air National Guard camp—on the mound for Detroit. Rookie Fay Jarvis (1-1)

Eskey Harriers Win Triangular

MENOMINEE — Allen Berg finished first in his four specialties once again this year to lead the Escanaba Eskymos to victory over Marinette and Menominee in a triangular track meet held last night.

The Eskymos used five first place finishes to score 52 points in the meet compared to Marinette's 5½ and Menominee's 44½.

Berg took first place honors in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10½ inches; in the long jump with a jump of 19 feet 9½ inches; the high hurdles with a :15.5 clocking and the low hurdles in a time of :21.8. The other Eskymo first place came when Bob Stone finished first in the 880-yard dash with a time of 2:13.3.

Other Eskymos placing in the meet were Gary Brawley, second in the shot put; Mike Dupont, fourth in the shot put; Steve Rolig, third in the long jump; Steve Jurmu, third in the two-mile run; Roger McMillan, second in the mile; Doug Howard, third in the 440; John Breitenbach, third in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes; and Tom Carlson, fourth in the 100-yard dash and second in the pole vault.

The 880 relay team of Carlson, Howard, Jim Olsen and Breitenbach finished second as did the mile relay team of Olsen, Stone, Dan Klekamp and McMillan.

In the JV meet, Escanaba placed first with 64 points, Menominee second with 50 and Marinette third with 30.

Michigan Splits Big Ten Twinbill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — First baseman Jim Hosler drove in two runs with a first inning double and teammate John Arvai got a two-run homer in the third as Michigan won the nightcap 9-3 of a Big Ten baseball doubleheader with Ohio State Friday.

Ohio State won the opener 2-1.

It was Michigan's first Big Ten victory after losing three straight games.

Pitcher Gerry Christian won the nightcap as he allotted nine hits, he struck out five and walked five.

Sivertsen, making his third start of the season, scattered seven hits over 8½ innings, allowing four runs before being relieved in the ninth with one out when his arm got tired. He now has two conference victories against no defeats.

In the game, Sivertsen cracked out two singles, walked once and scored three times. He ran his season batting average to .307 and lifted his conference mark to .424. It is almost certain that he will make the All-Conference team at either shortstop or pitcher when the league selections are made on May 12.

Dick continues to lead the Vandards in the following departments: average .307; hits 28; runs 24; doubles 7; triples 4; home runs 2; stolen bases 15; walks 14; and runs batted in 18.

will start for Boston.

Detroit is 4½ games behind Baltimore in the American League's Eastern Division and one behind Boston.

Detroit pitcher Earl Wilson was forced to leave the game after the second inning. In the top half, the righthander pulled a thigh muscle while running the bases.

And, said an unhappy Wilson, his pitches were "the best stuff I've had all year too."

Beard Holding Lead In New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "Jack who?" muttered Frank Beard when he looked at the pressroom scoreboard after two rounds of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open and saw he had been tied for the lead by Jack Harden Jr.

"Who's he?" said Beard, who had just toured Lakewood Country Club's 7,020 yards in 67 strokes for the second consecutive day. No one seemed to know.

Two hours later Jack Harden Jr. hooked his tee shot into a trap on his 18th hole of the day and wound up with a bogey five —his first, incidentally, in two days. It gave him a 67, five under par, and left Beard all alone at 134 for the first 36 holes.

"I'm just unconscious," said Harden a few minutes later as he sipped a soft drink in the press room. Harden and tempestuous Davey Hill, who had a 68, were tied for second with 135.

Harden hasn't had many moments of glory on the tour, but he handled a barrage of questions with all the coolness of a Jack Nicklaus, who, by the way, didn't make the cut for the final 36 holes after rounds of 74-70-144—which missed it by a stroke.

"This is a strange experience," said Harden, who is 27 and comes from a golfing family. His father and two uncles are club professionals.

"I don't know whether I'll choke or not. I've never had a chance to choke before."

Harden, an assistant pro at Houston's plush River Oaks Country Club where his father is the head man, barely got in the field of 144 who teed up for Thursday's first round. He was the first alternate after Monday's qualifying play by non-exempt pros and when defending pull "is up high. It doesn't appear too serious, but we'll have to wait and see."

The Red Sox jumped to a 1-0 lead as Yastrzemski belted a homer into the center field bleachers with two out in the first inning.

Bill Freehan put the Tigers ahead in the second with a two-run homer. Yastrzemski then tied it in the sixth with his run-scoring double.

Yaz broke up a pitching duel between Sonny Siebert and Detroit reliever Dick Radatz with a line shot over the Detroit bullpen into the bleachers in right with two out in the eighth inning.

The Tigers tried to rally with two out in the ninth when Freehan doubled. However, Sparky Lyle relieved Siebert and preserved the victory. It was Siebert's first win since Boston acquired him in the deal that sent Ken Harrelson to Cleveland.

The tournament had various teams from Gogebic College, Lake Superior State, Michigan Tech, Suomi College and Northern Michigan University competing along with Bay de Noc.

Two hours later Jack Harden Jr. hooked his tee shot into a trap on his 18th hole of the day and wound up with a bogey five —his first, incidentally, in two days. It gave him a 67, five under par, and left Beard all alone at 134 for the first 36 holes.

"I'm just unconscious," said Harden a few minutes later as he sipped a soft drink in the press room. Harden and tempestuous Davey Hill, who had a 68, were tied for second with 135.

Harden hasn't had many moments of glory on the tour, but he handled a barrage of questions with all the coolness of a Jack Nicklaus, who, by the way, didn't make the cut for the final 36 holes after rounds of 74-70-144—which missed it by a stroke.

"This is a strange experience," said Harden, who is 27 and comes from a golfing family. His father and two uncles are club professionals.

"I don't know whether I'll choke or not. I've never had a chance to choke before."

Harden, an assistant pro at Houston's plush River Oaks Country Club where his father is the head man, barely got in the field of 144 who teed up for Thursday's first round. He was the first alternate after Monday's qualifying play by non-exempt pros and when defending

Pros, Cons Line Up On Sex Education

By The Associated Press

Sex education classes have been launched in a small number of Michigan schools for youngsters ranging from kindergarten pupils to fifth graders.

In the wake of the new programs, many parents have clustered into groups of irate opponents or enthusiastic supporters of the sex education.

Opponents have blasted some instructional materials as "filthy" and complained the programs lack accompanying teachings on morality. Some have said the explicitness of the instruction informs the children of "too much, too soon."

Advocates have asserted the programs answer children's questions about sex which are "bound to come up anyway" and educate youngsters factually instead of by hearsay.

Birth Control Taboo

Any mention of birth control in sex education classes is forbidden by an old state law. However, a bill has been introduced in the Senate this year attempting to eliminate this provision from the statutes.

In 1968, the Legislature passed a law saying, "Any school may engage in the competent instruction and provide facilities and equipment for instruction in sex education, including the emotional, physical, psychological, physiological, hygienic, economic and social aspects of family life and sexual relations, as well as socially deviant sex behavior."

Permissiveness

At the time, Romney asserted, "If the teaching of birth control were to result primarily in emphasis on methods and means alone, without imparting sound guidelines for morality and responsibility, there is real danger that it would simply increase the tendency to sexual permissiveness which is already growing at an alarming rate."

The newness of the current sex education classes is in the fact that they are aimed at youngsters of the very earliest school ages.

"Some Michigan schools have been teaching sex education since at least World War I days, but the effort has been spotty," says Leon S. Waskin, an associate superintendent in the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

High schools commonly have some form of sex education, often in sociology departments. "Each school district has the right of decision on whether or not to teach the subject," says Waskin.

Increasing

But it appears a safe bet an increasing number of Michigan school districts will adopt—or at least seriously consider adopting—sex education classes before long.

An advisory committee of educators, doctors, nurses and laymen currently is drawing up guidelines to be presented to the State Board of Education for use in establishing model sex education programs.

Perhaps the largest-scale new sex education programs in the state are in the Ann Arbor School District where the programs are being taught in 11 elementary schools from kindergarten through fifth grade.

But its future is in doubt after protests raised at recent Board of Education meetings. At one unusually wild board session, parents shouted "Amen" and "Hallelujah" after speakers made remarks they particularly liked.

Take Over

W. Scott Westerman Jr., Ann Arbor schools superintendent, has planned a half-day or day-long board session to review the program.

One father, David Sponseller, said at an Ann Arbor meeting that he opposed the state or school board "taking over" personal lives of his children.

"I won't let my kids hear about it from any miniskirted teacher just out of college," another parent asserted.

Paul Cloke, a father who has a first-grader taking the classes, said sex education in public schools is necessary to "correct misinformation."

Another father called instructional films "filthy" and "disgusting" and said he wouldn't show them at a stag party.

Several parents questioned whether the instruction would lead to sexual experimentation among youngsters.

Substitute Class

Parents who object to the Ann Arbor programs can have their children enrolled in substitute classes.

The same is true in the Livonia School District where controversy surrounds sex education programs for first-graders at one school and second graders at another. Plans are underway for classes in a third elementary school.

All but eight of the 104 Livonia second-graders were taking the course this spring, after their parents gave written permission. The eight were enrolled in a class in the study of mammals, which included no details of reproductivity.

Some opponents of the Livonia sex education courses have been distributing a 36-page pamphlet called "Sex Education in the Schools," which reportedly is connected with the conservative John Birch Society.

Inform Parents

Jack E. Kirksey, principal of Grant Elementary School where second-graders receive sex education, said unusual steps were taken to inform parents of the course.

Each parent was given an outline of the instruction and viewed a film, "Human and Animal Beginnings," which the children are shown in the class. Flyers are mailed periodically to parents informing them of current topics in the course.

Larry Johnson, whose daughter is in a Livonia sex education class, said, "after viewing the program, my wife and I both said we wished there had been such instruction when we were young."

Mrs. George Houde, whose son, Richard, is taking a course, said, "The questions are bound to come up anyway and it's helpful for me in answering them. We're broadminded and believe in answering his questions straight and to the point."

Kirksey said the teachers are specially trained.

Intensive training also is given the Ann Arbor teachers.

The Holly Area School District currently is planning a sex education program, and a number of other school boards are considering similar steps.

The increasing interest in sex education has expanded onto college campuses, too. Michigan State University sponsored a six-week series of 22 lectures in January and February. The series was titled, "Sexuality: A Search for Perspective."

Blasphemy Law Unconstitutional

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Maryland's 246-year-old blasphemy law was struck down as unconstitutional Thursday.

Judge Edward O. Weant Jr. said the U. S. Supreme Court has made it "abundantly clear by its recent decisions that the blasphemy statute would be unconstitutional."

His ruling overturned the conviction of Irving K. West last June 21 by Trial Magistrate Charles J. Simpson of Westminster, which resulted in a $25 fine and a 30-day jail sentence which West served.

West, 20, had just returned from the Army when he was convicted of disorderly conduct and blasphemy after a fight on Main Street.

The Maryland law provides a jail sentence up to six months and a fine up to $100 "if any person, by writing or speaking, shall blaspheme or curse God, or shall write or utter any profane words of and concerning our Savior Jesus Christ, or of and concerning the Trinity, or any of the persons thereof..."

The American Civil Liberties Union represented West in Carroll County Circuit Court. Judge Weant ruled in favor of the ACLU's argument last January that the Maryland law violates the free speech, freedom of religion and equal protection provisions of the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the U. S. Constitution.

Lab School Closes At U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A 300-student elementary and junior high laboratory school at the University of Michigan will be closed by the end of the 1970 school year.

U-M regents Friday unanimously voted to close 40-year-old school after hearing Wilbur J. Cohen, former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and now dean of the School of Education, said the school of education "cannot do all things to all people."

The 100-student junior high school will be closed at the end of this school year.

Students Kept From Classes

HIGHLAND PARK (AP)—Highland Park College was closed at mid-day Friday after the school's dean said he was threatened by some Negro strikers shouting at him: "Kill the man."

Dean Paul Jones said the threat came as he went outside the school to observe picketing by members of the Association of Black Students.

About 40 pickets appeared at the school Thursday evening to reinforce their demands for more control over school affairs. They reappeared Friday, carrying signs saying, "Give us a say in what happens..." and "We have the right to strike."

In announcing the school closing, Jones said he feared a confrontation between the strikers and students who wanted to go to class but were being kept out by Negro pickets who linked arms and marched in front of the school's three main entrances.

Drug Novobiocin Draws Warning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Food and Drug Administration has ordered two manufacturers of the widely used antibiotic novobiocin to warn that it should be used only when safer and more effective drugs must be ruled out.

Within 30 days, the FDA said, the companies must tone down claims for the drug and include in the label warnings about serious side effects which the FDA says include blood disorders such as anemia, skin eruptions, pain at the injection point and sometimes death.

Outstanding stocks will not be recalled now but new quantities of the drug must be relabeled, the FDA said.

The drug is employed against bacterial infections and infections of the urinary tract, especially in cases where penicillin is impractical.

Products directly affected by the action are Albamycin Mix-o-vial, Albamycin capsules and Albamycin syrup, all marketed by the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., plus Cathomyacin Sodium capsules, marketed by Merck and Co. Inc., Rahway, N.J.

Star Tiger Hurler Faced With Choice

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Denny McLain, the Detroit Tigers' 31-game winner, is faced with a choice Monday between his show business career and the team he helped pitch to the world series championship.

McLain signed a contract last April to present his nightclub act at the Killarney Castle Monday night and again May 12, according to the Windsor night-spot's manager, Rick Sias.

Denny McLain

However the Tigers are in Philadelphia Monday for an exhibition game with the National League Phillies, and General Manager Jim Campbell and Manager Mayo Smith haven't excused McLain.

When the first newspaper ads appeared this week to ballyhoo McLain's scheduled Windsor appearance as an organist, Sias said he started getting phone calls asking how McLain could manage to be both in Windsor and Philadelphia at the same time.

Sias said McLain's accountant, Maurice Purdy, told him McLain's Tiger contract permits him to make club dates only when the club is idle.

Sias admits he pushed the panic button and called in his attorneys. But, McLain called

Indiana Sweeps Pair From State

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana University won its first Big Ten baseball games this season Friday by taking both games of a doubleheader from Michigan State, 5-1 and 3-2.

Indiana picked up three runs in the sixth when Michigan State reliever Zane Easton walked three in a row with bases loaded. A double by MSU catcher Harry Kendrick and a single by shortstop George Petroff accounted for the Spartans' lone run.

MSU leadoff batter Joe Gavel hit a triple to open the second game and scored on an infield out. Hoosier Frank Grundler hit a three-run homer in the bottom of the first inning to regain the lead for keeps.

Young Farm Couple Accents Efficiency

"Here is farming at its best. The joy of accomplishment blended with tasks yet to be done."

In summary that's the story of a former Escanaba girl, Dolores Lorenson, who is now Mrs. Merrill Butler of Leslie, Mich., in Ingham County.

The young farm couple and their two children, Robert and Sheryl, are the subject of a recent feature article in the Ingham County News. The Butlers own 400 acres and rent 250 more and put emphasis on farming efficiency.

Dolores Butler has never been a "farm girl" but she does have a farm family heritage that makes farming interesting and enjoyable. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lorenson of 1219 N. 22nd St., Escanaba, and her father was raised on a farm.

Helps With Farm

Wallace Lorenson, the son of the Hans Lorensons of Stonington, was born and raised on the farm but left at age 17, and he is now employed by the Theisen-Clemens Oil Co.

Dolores, a 1959 graduate of Escanaba Public High School, had no thoughts of becoming a farmer's wife. She attended an airline hostess training school in Kansas City and was employed in Lansing when she met Merrill Butler.

Quickly learning the ways of the farm, Dolores helps in every phase of the farm's operation, from driving a tractor in the field to milking cows and washing the milking machines and bulk milk tank.

They plant upwards of 400 acres of corn and have yields averaging 150 bushels of wet corn to the acre; they cultivate their corn once at least and spray with atrazine to control weeds; and they have a full complement of corn harvesting equipment. They even mix their own concentrates and high proteins. They have storage for 2,200 tons of silage. All feeding is done with electrical-powered equipment.

Milk 120 Cows

Other acreage is in oats and wheat, there is a woodlot, and there is even a gravel pit that developed when some hills were leveled.

The farm's "milking parlor" is a model of efficiency, including an office and a telephone. They milk 120 registered and grade cows and the number is expected to go to 150 soon. The whole farm operation is geared to making it a lucrative enterprise and the Butlers carefully watch for those "little things" that must still be done to further cut overhead.

The farm has its many rewards for the Butlers and their children, for they have horses to ride, with one to pull the youngsters about in the pony cart; and the family is planning for the construction of a new house this spring.

Reagan Speaker

LANSING (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan will be the featured speaker at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner May 13, the Republican State Central Committee has announced. The dinner, in Detroit, will mark Reagan's second appearance in the state in less than a year. He spoke last year in Grand Rapids.

Bat Research Receives Grant

HOUGHTON — A Michigan Tech bio-scientist has received a $35,600 grant from the National Science Foundation to continue a five-year old bat research study. He is Dr. Robert C. Stones, associate professor in the biological sciences department at the University. Stones is seeking new physiological information in temperature and climatic adaptation, heat loss and energy exchange in hibernators, nutrition, heat stress, biological rhythms or internal biological "clocks" and endocrine gland adjustments. Copper Country residents have assisted Dr. Stones in his research for bats and this summer again will be called upon to help him locate bat colonies.

Coon Dog Trees Young Suspects

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Ole Abner's just a coon dog but he did a right smart job of treeing two boys accused of stealing.

Jack Moon, 63, chased two boys he thought stole money from his service station register Thursday. He caught up with them in his pickup truck, but they got away while he was calling police. So he took off after them on foot.

"I seen them two boys a runnin' south and this old gentleman in the service station uniform chasing 'em," said Dale Atkinson who was riding in a camper pickup with his coon dog, Abner.

"When I saw what was happenin', I just opened the door and let the hound out. Abner treed them two boys and held 'em at bay up against a wall."

Atkinson said he warned the two boys if they tried anything, "the dog would get 'em."

They didn't, so he put them and Abner in his camper and drove to a nearby bowling alley where he turned the two youths over to the police.

They were jailed on complaint of grand larceny.

"But the laugh's on the boys," Atkinson said. "Because when they got in the camper, Ole Abner started lickin' 'em in the face."

"He won't hurt anybody but I guess he can sure scare you to death."

GM, Ford Gain In Auto Sales

DETROIT (AP) — With only General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. reporting gains, the nation's auto industry recorded a narrow, three per cent increase in passenger car sales in April.

The industry Friday reported it sold 754,484 cars during the month, compared with 728,820 in April of 1968.

General Motors, industry giant captured the lion's share of the boost, selling 399,981 cars, compared with 373,801 in April last year.

Ford said it delivered 203,369 new cars to customers, compared with 190,763 in April last year.

Chrysler's sales for April dropped to 129,932 from the 140,105 of the period last year.

American Motors reported sales of 21,202 cars in April, down from its 24,151 in the same month last year.

The sales continued a trend in which the industry hovered very close to its pace of 1968, with a total of 2,784,725 passenger cars sold through April this year. At the same point a year ago, the industry had sold 2,749,510 cars.

Sanitarian Urges Owners To Check Septic Tanks

S. C. Sweeney, sanitarian for the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept., today urged all home owners who have septic tank installations to check their condition before summer begins.

"After a winter of use many septic tanks should be cleaned for efficient operation," Sweeney said.

To determine if a septic tank needs cleaning insert a rod to the bottom of the tank and after pulling it up note the length of the dark area called the sludge line. If this is over one-third of the depth of the tank it should be cleaned in order for proper bacterial action to take place and to increase capacity of the tank, Sweeney pointed out.

The area of the tile field also should be checked to see that no septic tank effluent is pooling on the ground. Pooling indicates that the tile field is saturated and not functioning and should be extended or replaced. Often in spring, surface water will saturate a tile field area and this area may function properly when surface water is drained.

"Drain all surface water off a tile field area," Sweeney urged. "A great danger exists from surface seepage draining into wells and causing pollution. Well casings should have a poured cement slab four feet square sloping away from the well casing to protect the well from surface runoff. Wells should be tested for safe drinking quality and this is done by securing a sample container from the Delta-Menominee Health Dept."

Closing Exams For State Police

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission announced today it will close its open examinations for State Police trooper positions effective May 16.

Applications on file by that date will be more than sufficient to provide candidates for the September trooper training school, the commission said.

Graduation of the September trooper trainees will fill vacancies left within the present authorized strength of State Police, the commission said.

The opening of examinations again will be announced later this year if the current session of the Legislature approves additional State Police positions, Civil Service Director Franklin DeWald reported.

Traverse City Receives $428,200 For Job Making

Approval of grants totaling $428,200 to help spur industrial growth and create jobs at Traverse City is announced by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The city is the applicant for the federal assistance to help develop a 140-acre airport industrial park. City officials said development of the park will make it the first modern airport industrial facility in northern Michigan.

The project will involve installation of access roads, a railroad spur and sewer lines. The direct result will be the creation of about 160 industrial jobs and a base for a potential 1,150 jobs, the city said.

Parson's Corp., producer of aircraft parts, will expand and employ about 125 additional workers, according to city officials. In addition, two other companies—Normic Industries and Peckham Engineering—will provide a total of about 35 new jobs, the officials add. Normic Industries is a metal-decorating firm and Peckham is a consulting engineering firm.

Traverse City is the growth center for the 11-county Northwest Michigan Economic Development District. The district program enables member counties to pool their talents and resources to improve economic conditions and help create jobs.

To accelerate area economic growth, Traverse City is establishing a program which includes vocational training and apprentice shops in the building trades and is providing job development and placement services. A non-profit development corporation—The Industrial Fund, Inc.—helps industry locate and expand in the area.

Traverse City is a major port and tourism is an important part of its economy.

The Economic Development Administration funds for the project total $328,200. This includes a bonus of $54,700 because Traverse City and Grand Traverse County are participating in the activities of the Northwest Michigan Economic Development District.

The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission is making a $100,000 grant and the city will complete the $547,000 project cost with $118,800 in local funds.

The Commission and EDA were established under the Public Works and Economic Development Act.

Burglars Active In Bloomfield Hills

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP)—The posh suburb of Bloomfield Hills—where many of the auto industry executives live—would seem to be a target for burglars. It is.

Walter Sluiter, chief of police in the community of 3,000 comfortable to downright rich, said the burglaries are occurring at the rate of about one per week.

Chief Sluiter said at least 21 of the burglaries appear to be the work of one person or gang. Women's footprints have been found at a number of the ransacked homes.

Police won't reveal names of the victims, but here are reports from some victims:

Ray Eppert, retired board chairman of the Burroughs Corp., went to Hawaii to recuperate from a mugging in downtown Detroit in which he was brutally beaten. When he returned he found much missing "and everything was tumbled over, right to the attic."

Silver Losses

James C. Zeder, a retired Chrysler Corp. vice president, returned from a visit with relatives to discover losses of up to $40,000, much of it in silver items.

Henry M. Hogan Jr., copublisher and editor of the weekly Birmingham Eccentric, took a vacation in Mexico this past winter. While he was gone he had visitors.

"They just about took everything they could carry," said

Hogan. "It's reached $20,000 and we're still noticing other things are gone."

The burglars also took Hogan's department store charge plate and "they've charged $4,700 on it already, including photo equipment."

"They even plugged in the ex-cycle while they were in the house."

Could Do Better

Hogan, who lives next door to the president of Chrysler Corp. and across the street from the board chairman of General Motors Corp., thinks the police department could be doing a better job.

"Someone's casing these houses for the burglars, someone has to be doing it," Hogan said.

"There isn't one detective. They don't have the men to go out, for instance, and talk to the milkmen who work certain neighborhoods or the cleaners" who make pickups at the homes, he added.

But Eppert has only praise for the department. And Chief Sluiter says he is closing in on the gang. He says bits and pieces of evidence are slowly taking shape, forming patterns.

Tom Van Putten Is Hospitalized

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten, who returned from Vietnam to a hero's welcome at Caledonia Wednesday, has been hospitalized with a respiratory ailment which doctors described as "pneumonitis of both lungs."

Van Putten, 21, was suffering from malnutrition and dehydration and had lost 60 pounds when he was picked up by an Army helicopter following his escape from the Viet Cong last month. He had been held captive for more than 14 months.

His family physician, Dr. James C. Bricker of Caledonia, reported today Van Putten "has had a cough for the last four or five days and it developed into a more severe condition Thursday night."

Woodpecker Holes Placed On Display

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miss C. C. Ruku recently put on display here her collection of woodpecker holes.

Miss Ruku, 27, of New York, said she isn't an expert on woodpecker holes, she just collects them.

"They interest me," she says. "People look at me like I'm strange or something when I tell them I collect woodpecker holes. But I think it's a nice hobby, you can learn from it, and why not?"

Tech Students Work On Real Design Tasks

HOUGHTON—The Mechanical Engineering Department of Michigan Tech announced its involvement in a unique education-industry program. The department is conducting a special design program in cooperation with the American Can Co., of Barrington, Ill.

Six students under the guidance of Dr. Raymond W. Kaupila, associate professor of mechanical engineering, are engaged in the project. This group journeyed to Illinois recently to the Barrington Lab where the program was reviewed and initiated. The students selected design projects from a list of real engineering problems which will be completed at Michigan Tech. Upon completion of the design projects, the students will make oral presentations describing their completed designs to a committee composed of engineering personnel from the Barrington Lab on campus.

The students selected for the program include: Carl J. Wick, Cornell; Richard R. Routhier, Newberry; G. A. Leonardi, Alphan.

It is believed that this new cooperative education-industry program is the first of its kind to be conducted at Tech.
